Dear Robert:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your Biocryo Systems sequential, gradient compression and cold therapy unit. We have four of these now being utilized in three athletic training rooms at Illinois State University and they are used constantly. Our athletes have started to call the compressions sleeves "the blue boot!" The unit is easy to use and patient friendly. Our athletic training students are exposed to a variety of modalities and they have all learned how to utilize this cold therapy unit. The combination of cold and compression is still one of the best ways to decrease swelling when combined with elevation so your unit is very effective in accomplishing this quickly. I injured my knee this year when I was blindsided on the sidelines during our last home football game and I used the Biocryo System several times a day after I sustained the injury. I always felt so much better after using this cold therapy treatment.

Thank you again for a great product. I plan to continue using and upgrading my units for a long time. I would and have recommended the Biocryo Systems to many of my colleagues and alumni. I look forward to seeing you and Delores at the NATA National Symposium in St. Louis in June. Have a great summer!

Sincerely,

Kathy Schniedwind, ATC/L
